

University of Cyprus
Archaeological Research Unit

56th Public Lecture Series | Winter Semester 2021
ARU 1991-2021: Celebrating 30 Years of Archaeological Research

The Archaeological Research Unit of the University of Cyprus invites you to an online ZOOM public lecture on Monday, November 8th 2021, at 19:30 (EET)

by

Dr Anna Georgiadou

Special Scientist (Research)

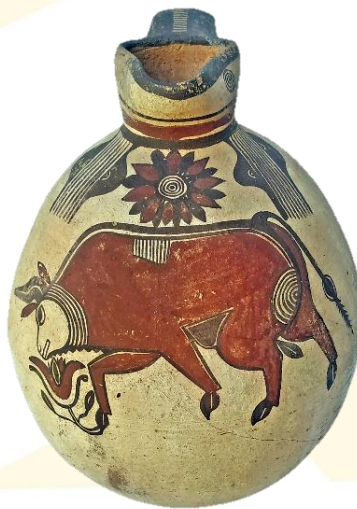

Dr Maria Dikomitou-Eliadou

Post-doctoral Researcher

MuseCo Research Project, RIF (EXCELLENCE/1216/0093)

titled:

The MuseCo research project: The case study of Salaminian Iron Age pottery

Summary:

This lecture will present the first results of the research programme Bringing Life to Old Museum Collections: The Interdisciplinary Study of Pottery from the Cypriot Iron Age Polities of Salamis, Soloi, Lapithos and Chytroi (MuseCo, EXCELLENCE/1216/0093). This project is an interdisciplinary investigation into the regional pottery production of these polities, and it includes the morphological, stylistic, compositional and technological characterisation of large pottery assemblages that are currently stored at the Cyprus Museum in Nicosia. MuseCo has been digitally documenting these museum collections and a large number of ceramic samples has been selected for chemical and mineralogical analyses. This research aspires to shed new light into the culture and history of the occupied northern and eastern areas of the island during the Cypro-Geometric, Cypro-Achaic and Cypro-Classical periods. The case study of Salamis will be used as a springboard for presenting the project's research objectives, methodology, sampling strategy, as well as first research results.

All Monday lectures are free and open to the public, but registration is required for access to the Zoom lecture. For registration, please, click here: <https://ucy.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJwrduyhqjopEtapHuXutOu3-xz9S3OJ7leZ>