MASTERS IN ECONOMIC ANALYSIS AT THE UNIVERSITY OF CYPRUS

The Department of Economics of the University of Cyprus is accepting applications for its Masters program in Economic Analysis for the academic year starting in September 2011. Admission decisions will be taken in May. The program is offered in the English language and can be completed within twelve months. It consists of rigorous graduate level courses in economic theory and econometric methods, aiming to equip students with tools useful in the modern economy and to prepare them for research at the Ph.D. level.

Successful graduates will have the chance to continue their Ph.D. studies at the University of Cyprus or top Ph.D. programs overseas. Full scholarships are available to the best applicants based on academic criteria.
